

Introduction:

27th Amendment is the most controversial amendment in Pakistan's History. This amendment curtail the power of ^{apex} judiciary - Supreme court by making ~~it~~ federal Constitutional court. Now Supreme court acts as a appellate court, and constitutional powers reside around FCC. Moreover, critics argue that the appointment in FCC, and transfer and postings of judges are now controlled by the executives, curtailing the independence of judiciary. Debates are occurring on judicial restraint and activism. Before this amendment, people claim that Judicial activism was happening in the form of suo moto, and now their powers are constraint. This disturbs the ^{separation of} power mechanism, and executive and military overreach their powers, and step in into judicial sphere.

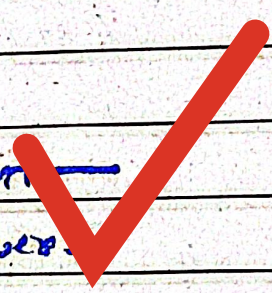

Brief Introduction of the 27th amendment:

Twenty-seventh amendment was passed in November, 2025. It is the most controversial amendment as it curtailed the power of the apex court - Supreme court. This amendment created a FCC (Federal Constitutional Court) for dealing constitutional matters. However critics argue that through this amendment, executive Control judiciary.

Main Points of the Amendment:

- ① Creation of the FCC. - Amend Article 175(A).
- ② Curtail powers of Supreme court; it becomes a appellate court.
- ③ Immunity to the top official - Military CDS and president life time.
- ④ Executive Controls appointments, postings and transfer of judges ^{through} judicial commission.
- ⑤ Abolished chief of joint staff office.
- ⑥ Created Chief of Defence staff office - linked with Army chief.

Critically Evaluate 27th amendment focussing on Judicial power.

① Creation of FCC:

This amendment created federal Constitutional Court for the ~~solution~~ dealing of Constitutional matters. Their decisions are binding on both supreme court and other lower courts. All constitutional ~~tribunals~~ have absorbed in the FCC. Its decisions are binding and final.

2) Curtail of the powers of Supreme Court:

This Amendment curtailed the power of the supreme court. Now it will act as a appellate court, and its decisions are not binding on the Fll.

3) Executive Controls the power of judiciary — Influence transfer, posting, appointments:

Now executive through amending article 175 A controls the appointment, transfer and posting of the judges. Now executive easily influence judicial commission for judges appointment. Judges are forced to comply with the executive's orders of posting and transfer; otherwise, they will face disciplinary action.

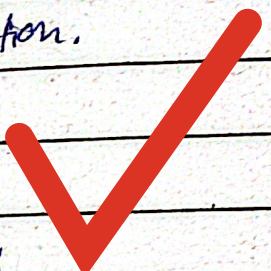

4) Politicization of Judiciary:

Now the judiciary are politicized. Politicians control and influence the judicial decisions, compromising the separation of power mechanism and independence of judiciary.

5/ Life time Immunity to CDF and President:

This amendment provides life-time immunity to the chief of defence staff and the president. This clause damages the concept of accountability, and raises concerns over the trust of the public over the state's neutrality. It is anti-Islam also as per Ulema Council of Pakistan as Pakistan is the Islamic Republic of Pakistan. This clause goes against preamble of the constitution.

Supporter's of Amendment's view:

Supporters consider it a milestone as it put executive checks on the judiciary, strengthened democracy, control judicial activism, and make specialized courts for constitutional matters. It helps judiciary to solve backlog of cases, speeding up the rule of law process.

Judicial activism vs Judicial Restraint debate

Before this amendment, people argue that judiciary is overreaching its mandate. It performs judicial activism, and through suo moto notices creates hurdles in the legislative and executive processes. It creates political friction and overlapping of powers between the judiciary and executives/legislature. However, after this amendment critics argue that this amendment thwarts the powers of judiciary. After the formation of the FSC, Supreme Court has become just an appellate court, whose role now become limited. Moreover, through the amendment of Article 175(A), executive controls the judicial commission, and posting and transferring of judges, making judges dependent on the executives. This restricts judicial powers now.

Implications for the trichotomy of Power in Pakistan:

This amendment creates a imbalance of powers between different institutions of the government — judiciary, executive, military.

① Judiciary becomes subdue:

Now the judiciary becomes subdue of executives as their appointments, posting, and transfers are now controlled by the executives.

2) Political influence over Judiciary:

Parliament and political leadership are now controlling judges' inspiration through controlling their tenure, posting and transfers, disturbing the concept of the separation of powers.

3) Army's Dominant Role:

After this amendment, the role of Army becomes dominant. An Army chief now controls three forces through joint mechanism under chief of defence forces. It creates implications as democratic culture in Pakistan is already weak and civil-military relations are already in chaos since inception of the country.

Conclusions:

In a nut shell, 27th amendment starts a debate over judicial restraint and activism. Critics argue that executive cuts the power of the apex court by creating the FCC, whose formation and postings are also influenced by the executive.

and perilment. Before this amendment, people consider that courts are doing activism, and now critics blame that this amendment restrict the power of the judiciary. However, this amendment ^{disturbs} the the power balance and separation of power mechanism by making executive more powerful while judiciary subdue to it.
