Q.N. 5

⇒ Punctuate the following passage

→ Answer

3/5

"The minister, addressing the gathering, said: my fellow citizens, we stand today at a critical juncture in our nation's history. We must ask ourselves: Are we prepared to face the challenges ahead, or shall we succumb to despondency and inaction? Dr. Ahmed, the renowned economist, had warned us last year that unless immediate reforms are undertaken, the economy will collapse. However, his advice was not heeded. Now we find ourselves in precisely the predicament he had predicted. Therefore, I urge you all to support the government's new economic policy, which though painful in the short term, will yield beneficial results in the long run. Let's not repeat the mistakes of the past; let's move forward with determination and courage."

Literature is the pulse of any society, reflecting its moral and spiritual condition. When the literature of the nation starts to decline, it should be understood that the nation is about to face its doom. unfortunately, today's literature has become a commercialized market commodity and has fallen into the clutches of the mafia. The writer who sells his pen for money is actually selling his conscience as well.

A true writer is one who raises the voice of truth and wields the pen against falsehood, no matter how many sacrifices have to be made. But in today's era, such conscientious writers are rare not existent. Most writers are seen bowing their heads at the threshold of power and are engaged in a futile attempt to please the powerful classes with their writings. This is a betrayal of literature and a treachery against the nation.

Q.2) Make a précis of the following passage and suggest a suitable title.

Title

Lost Wholeness in Modern Intellectual Culture

→ The Limitations of Expertise.

05/20

The modern deference to specialized expertise has created a paradox: a knowledge deeper in specific areas, or collective ability to address complex, overarching human problems diminishes. Specialists inherently develop narrow perspectives, viewing multifaceted human life and issues like climate change through the singular, fragmented lens of their own discipline (economic, biological, psychological, etc.). This fragmentation prevents a unified, coherent understanding, unlike the medieval worldview. Furthermore, over-reliance on experts erodes

In Précis writing, the use of first person pronouns like I, we, our, us is considered a blunder

⇒ Q.1

The author identifies two main fallacies, viewing tradition and progress as mutually exclusive opposites, and equating novelty with improvement. This is considered dangerous because it leads to a "dangerous intellectual trap" where People become rootless, mistled vulnerable to every passing fad

No. 4

This is a matter of opinion, but the author implies that such a distinction is possible through the exercise of intelligence and judgment. The text suggests that while we are influenced by our present, we can still critically evaluate which demands abolition by engaging in the "living conversation" between past and present.
