The minister, addressing the gathering said, "My fellow citizens! We stand today at a critical juncture in our nation's history. We must ask ourselves, 'are we better prepared to face the challenges ahead or shall we succumb to dependency and inaction?' Dr. Ahmed, the renowned economist had warned us last year that unless immediate reforms are undertaken, the economy will collapse; however, his advice was not heeded, now we find ourselves in precisely the predicament he had predicted. Therefore, I urge you all to support the government's new economic policy which — though painful in short term — will yield beneficial results in the long run. Let's not, he continued, repeat the mistakes of Palt; let's move forward with determination and courage."

QUESTION 3

Comprehension Passage

Q1

The fundamental error author identifies in popular understanding of tradition and progress is that these two forces are totally opposite to each other. Tradition represents past and conservatism, whereas progress represents future and innovation. This error is considered dangerous
because it has caught
us into intellectual trap.

The writer used historical examples to challenge the notion that progress

Date: _____

Day: _____

requires abandoning the past.
He says that every great movement in history has involved selective acceptance of the past instead of total rejection. He cited the examples of European Enlightenment and great religious reformers.

The writer means that traditions are not dead to be ignored, they are living conversation.

They guide us in future endeavour, without them, we become rootless and branchless. It is a dialogue in which present is interlinked with the past.

According to the passage, in modern world,

Date: _____

Day: _____

people are seeking meaning, purpose and identities. They are involved in different things such as spiritual healing, mental treatment and political movements to find their meanings and identities.

This reveals about contemporary society that it has shunned and ignored its past. That's why people are searching for meaning and purpose of their lives.

The author agrees that distinguishing between valuable traditional and harmful ones requires "real intelligence and judgment" but such distinction is difficult to draw. Because,

Day: _____

2 People are invariably biased by and prejudiced by their own perspectives.
No matter how strong one's intellect is, one's opinions and thoughts are shaped by one's experiences. This is why, it is difficult to draw distinction between intelligence and judgement.

Précis writing

In Précis writing, the use of first person pronouns like I, we, our, us is considered a blunder

The obsession with expertise has resulted in bizarre contradiction in our intellectual life. We are constrained to take basic human issues even when knowledge has become specialised.
We look to different experts for solving our problems. But
