

"A thing of beauty is a Joy forever"

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever" is the opening line of the poem Endymion by John Keats. According to him beautiful things always gives happiness.

Beautiful things provide fresh source of lasting peace.

There are many ways to enjoy the beauty of nature e.g mountain, rivers, flowers, art, music, seas, oceans, sunrise, moon. Nature is the greatest source of beauty like we see flowers and smelling of them provide us soothing effect that remain fresh in memories. Art and music also forms a beauty that give mental peace. By observing mountains and cliffs, one lost himself in their silence. Strength teaches patience and stability. The fresh air and scenic view of mountains bring joy and relaxation. Beauty reduces stress and sadness and brings hope in difficult time.

True beauty is not only physical, it can be kindness, love, and good character. Doing good deeds to people provide means of inner happiness to them and also this kind of beauty purify soul of one's who help others.

Love is a lifetime beauty that not only connects people, it also provides inner happiness that never completely fades, it stays in the heart. The beauty of sunrise fills the sky with warm colors and brings hope for a new day. Breathtaking view of sunrise refreshes the mind and spreads positivity. Moonlight spreads calmness and beauty in the silent nights. The brightness of moon in the dark sky represents sign of hope and guidance during difficult times.

The calm light of moon represent that even in darkness, there is always a source of light and peace. Beauty of rivers, lakes, oceans and seas reflect the beauty of sky and surrounding nature. Happy moments always remains in heart and never fades away. They always become part of joy forever and whenever remember them they bring smile on face. Life is just like a beauty that brings moment of joy, peace, and inspiration. The small pleasures of life add beauty and meaning to our existence. even in difficult times, life holds hidden beauty and valuable lessons. A positive attitude helps to see the beauty present in everyday life. Therefore, beauty in every form leaves a lasting impression on the heart and truly becomes a joy forever.
