

A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER

An Irish novelist Margaret Wolfe Hungerford said in her novel "Molly Bawn", "Beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder." Beauty is a subjective term. Different people have different perception about beauty. A thing which is more beautiful for someone, can be a trivial for others. Beauty have different forms, for someone it can be nature, poetry, music while for others, it can be <sup>just</sup> having a pure, kind soul. Beauty helps to endure the sufferings and disappointments of this world. It is important to mention that beauty is not just a pretty face. In stead, the inner beauty is more attractive than the physical appearance. A kind heart, a pure soul and a passion of helping others in this unbalance world is more beautiful and pleasurable than a pretty handsome face. This beauty can give people the will to go on living in a depressing and imperfect world. likewise, the beauty of a kind soul.

Abdul Samad Ebi, who helped poor and needy people, will remain immortal. Hence, the one who recognizes the real beauty of the world, will be the happiest human as a thing of beauty gives the real pleasure forever.
