

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever"

The line "A thing of beauty is a joy forever" by John Keats expresses the idea that true beauty never fades and continues to bring happiness across time. Beauty surrounds us in many forms, and each one leaves a lasting mark on the heart. In nature, the gentle bloom of a rose, the calm waves of the sea or the shining stars in the sky remind us of life's quiet wonders. These sights not only delight the eyes but also bring peace and comfort that remain long after the moment has passed. Similarly, works of art and literature provide <sup>viewers</sup> ~~viewers~~ lasting comfort and joy. For instance, Taj Mahal in India, Shakespeare's timeless plays and Michelangelo's sculptures are admired by people across centuries showing that beauty grows stronger as more generations discover it. Yet, beauty is not limited to physical things only. The acts of love, kindness and sacrifice are also beautiful for they inspire others and leave behind memories that never fade. Keats believed that beauty helps us face the struggles in life by giving us hope and strength. Just as the stars continue to shine every night, beautiful things remain constant and eternal. In simple words, beauty is everlasting, it does not die with time but continues to bring joy whenever we
